Underwood's Support of Pacts Blow to Democrats in Senate

Senator Underwood today dashed the hope of some Democratic senators that he would give only perfunctory help in the fight for ratification of the arms conference

Underwood, expressing his enthusiasm for the entire program, predicted all the treaties would be ratified with many votes to spare.

Administration leaders are much pleased at Underwood's wholehearted support, while at the same time some of the Democratic colleagues are displeased and disquieted. Some Democrats think Underwood, as the party leader should not commit himself completely to the support of a program framed almost entirely by the opposing party.

Bryan Praises Parley, Declares Democrats Will Support Treaties

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 9.—Democracy can have nothing but praise for the actual steps towards world peace which were taken by the disarmament conference at Washington, William Jennings Bryan declares in a special article sum-Press. Democrats will ungrudgingly ming up the conference for the United commend what has been done, he stated. The success of the conference makes certain the calling of other conferences, Bryan believes, and says that in time the idea will develop into a permanent international tribunal.

By WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN (Copyright 1922 by the United Press) The arms conference has passed into history after a session that may be regarded as the beginning of an epoch. It did not do all that the sanguine hoped for, but movements by large masses are never as rapid as the enthusiast wishes. The idealist goes in advance of events and he must not be disappointed if those who who move more slowly retard the pace of the army.

That which has been accomp lished is substantial and the educational influence that the conference will exert is even more important than its accomplishments.

The world takes a long step in advance when the leading naval powers scrap half of their hattleship tonnage and agree to a naval holiday. Besides that, they have excluded the submarine as a weapon against commerce and they have made poisonous gas illegitimate in war. The conference makes possible a larger reduction in current taxation. Who can belittle such a measure of relief at a time

While the danger of war in the Pacific has been greatly exaggerated, still it is gratifying to have measures taken that will allay even groundless fears and furnish guarantees of peace.

The failure of the conference to deal with the question of land armaments is to be regretted, but it is a sin of omission that that can and will be corrected

The Democrats will ungrudg-ingly commend what has been done. They will not seek to de tract from or to minimize the work of the conference.

Principal as well as policy will compel them to give credit to the administration for what has been done. They have reason to be as happy as the Republicans, because every step that the con-ference has taken has been along the Democratic line of march. Things have been accomplished this year that were impossible one year ago and still more impossible two years ago just as some things are left for the future which are now ripe for settlement.

Here's to the Lions-Long and Loud May They Roar! So says The Register and so say we all. And yet, it was not always thus. When first the movement was started to organize the Santa Ana Lions Club, some people threw up their hands. "What—another club!" they exclaimed. Others asked, quiet seriously and sincerely, "Aren't we getting over-organized?" And many answered, "We surely are."

But the Lions have justified themselves. Not only that, but all can now see that, with the classification restrictions and limitations of Rotary and Kiwanis, a Lions Club was really needed to develop and utilize the energy and enthusiasm of a large segment of our business population in behalf of better, bigger, cleaner business, and to provide a large number of our younger business men with the means of good fellowship so thoroughly enjoyed by the Rotarians and Kiwanians.

The Lions, being mostly younger men, as compared on the average with the members of the two older clubs, their future holds much of promise; and the enthusiasm, sincerity and seriousness with which they enter into the real spirit of Lionism insures the fulfillment of that Russia prior rights.

Americans also have secured important concessions in Jugo-Slavia, Czecho-Slovakia and Rumania, under stipulations providing for investment of several millions of American dol lars in development work, which these countries cannot undertake.

Negotiations have been begun be tween the Americans and Russian representatives for leasing the Russian fields, and putting them upon a productive basis. At the same time the Russians are seeking to secure German machinery for their oil fields, without which it is reported many of the works must close, re-sulting in permanent damage to cortain fields and heavy losses to the Soviet government.

Former wealthy oil owners and promoters, now Russian exiles here have been participating in these no gotiations.

The annual production of crude oil in the United States was estimated ed by the United States seologica! survey on Jan. 18 to be now almost 500,000,000 barrels, but the report stated that the annual consumption already is beyond that mark and is still growing. It added that for some years the United States has had to import oil and, with the growth in demand, its dependence on foreign oil "has become steadily greater in spite of our own increase in output."

Fully fifty persons were present from Santa Ana and Tustin, to enjoy the program of exciting games and contests. The number was divided into two groups for the latter, and some exciting and entertaining contests were staged.

One inspiring feature was the phonograph record of a talk on Christian Endeavor aims by Dr. Francis Clark, father of the organization, after which all joined in community singing, and gave the affair all the appearance of a typical Endeavor rally.

Delicious refreshments added the after the community singing is an evening for the latter, and some exciting and entertaining the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. ### POLY CASABA GREW BATTLING ANAHEIM

Poly basketers were this afternoon scheduled to play in the Anacounty league contest.

The original reason for changing the date of the Anaheim contest, which was scheduled to have been held tomorrow, was the fact that San Diego was supposed to meet the Poly track team on the local field on that day. However, the rain this week, and the fact that the contractors were unable to complete the work, will prevent the teams from meeting here. The meet has been postponed indefinitely.

Coach H. M. Morrison was confident of the ability of his men to defeat the Anaheim players. Coach Youngman's lads have not been very formidable on the court this season, standing at the bottom of the league. On the other hand, although the playing of the Poly team has not been faultless, it has been creditable, and a 1.000 per cent is re-

W. L. Brown, driver of a Santa Ana Stea mLaundry company truck, told of encountering Deck on the barrels of highway between Santa Ana and Ford coupe at the time and pulled up at one side of the road to speak to some one.

A Dodge car, cloesly followed by a Ford sedan, driven by Deck, approached from the direction Huntington Beach, Brown said. The sedan turned out as though to pass the Dodge as they reached Brown and a collision seemed so narrowly averted that Brown took the license number of Deck's car.

Then the Dodge, after Deck had dropped behind again, turned off into a driveway, Brown said, apparently trying to get out of Deck's

Hasley's answer to their suits. Each of the suits demands $7,500 from Hasley and each elleges that the plaintiff was falsely arrested by Hasley one evening several months ago when the four went to Brea to attend a dance and were taken into custody on liquor charges, being forced to spend a brief time in jail. The charges were dismissed when they appeared in court. Alexander had been charged with transporting liq-uor and the three girls with disor-derly conduct. In his reply to the four suits, Has ley made the startling answer that Alexander actually was transporting liquor at the time and that the three girls actually were acting in such a manner that he believed them to be under the influence of liquor and, therefore, had probable cause in making the arrests.

This is the portion of the answer to which the plaintiffs object and which they desire to have stricken from the case.

DAIRY MEN INSPIRED TO PROMOTE INDUSTRY

Inspired by the words of speakers at the dairy meeting in the Garden Grove Chamber of Commerce hall yesterday, Orange county dairymen were engaged today in further efforts to promote the industry which is one of the biggest in Orange county.

"The dairy industry is second in extent in California," declared J. J. Frey of the state agricultural department. "In spite of the fact that California is often thought of as a mining state, the dairy industry is seven times greater than the mines. Frey urged effort toward quality production among the dairymen, in order that their product might be demanded by the consumes. Sam H. Green urged co-operation among the producers, the transporter

Police Officers Tex Choat and Moody, of Anaheim, captured Murrieta about a mile away from the store after an exciting chase.

THREE SUPERVISORS URGE CITY LOCATION FOR PARENTAL HOME

For the purpose of giving thoughtful consideration to recent recommendations of the Orange county grand jury and juvenile court authorities, the board of supervisors, at its meeting next Tuesday will take up the matter of the establishment of a county parental school, according to Chairman T. B. Talbert.

It developed today, however, that board members were not inclined to favor the grand jury recommendation that a parental home be built on the grounds of the Orange county farm.

"Although the board has not discussed the subject in detail," said Chairman Talbert, "I am inclined to believe that a majority of the members would favor locating the school on premises other than those available at the county hospital. Speaking off-hand, I should think there would be a number of objections to placing young children in such surroundings. It would seem that a building near the Detention home would be more satisfactory." Supervisor H. A. Wassum registered virtually the same objections to the county hospital proposal.

"Originally, I had been inclined to favor the purchase of a 20-acre tract," said Wassum, "but it seems it is not the intention to keep the children in the home permanently. As I understand it, the children re main in the home only a short time and, if they show marked improve ment, they are released on probation.

"In this case, a building in the city would be better, and I should be in favor of locating it near the Detention home. We will discuss these and other plans next Tuesday, no doubt, and will be governed largely by the existing need and the recommendations of the juvenile "While the subject has not been brought up officially, I do not think I would favor location of such a home on the grounds of the courty hospital," said Supervisor N. T. Edwards. "I hardly think that would be the proper place to send our young people. At this time, I am not in a position to make a definite statement as to the proper location of the school, but the board no doubt will discuss the matter in detail at Tuesday's meeting." Board members pointed out that it would be necessary to have a teacher in charge of the institution whose salary would be approxi-mately $200 a month, inasmuch as it would be necessary for him to be said, there was no way at present to estimate the possible cost of the home. These and kindred details will be threshed out in board session.

The district attorney and trustees of the various schools in the county have been asked to endorse the project, according to R. R. Miller, county probation officer. Miss Bess Henry, director of research work in the Santa Ana schools, urged constant supervision of delin-

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles. Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

YANKEES WILL START 1922 PENNANT RACE WITH WEAK OUTFIELD, IS VIEW

Judge Landis' Ban on Ruth and Meusel and Huggins Failure to Get Good Substitutes Makes Early Season Prospects Look Dismal In Gotham '

> By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Feb. 9—Failing to secure a competent fly chaser, the New York Yanks will have to flounder around until May 20 with a makeshift outfield. While Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel are doing time, Huggins probably will have to send Wally Schang to the garden and rely on young Al. Devormer, the Los Angeles boy, behind the bat.

On paper it looks like the Yanks' ought to breeze through to a penant but the race may develop into most any one's.

Washington, Boston and St. Louis have added strength since the close of the season. It would not be a shock to some if these clubs are found up around the top at the start. Any club that boasts of the stick strength in the Red Sox lineup cannot be taken lightly. If Dave Danforth lives up to expectations, the Browns ought to give the present champions all they are looking for in the way of opposition.

The Cleveland Indians cannot be counted out of the race. Tris Speaker's line-up isn't over-impressive but Speaker always has a fighting ball team and spirit means much.

Ty Cobb needs some pitchers and a shortstop. Before the season opens he may be able to make some kind of a deal with the Yanks for Johnny Mitchell, the California star who spent last season on the bench and who is in line for the same duty this year.

Later in the evening the guests were given hot baths and provided with lodgings in the municipal lodging houses of Stockholm.

This is believed to be the first time that the premier of a European state has personally entertained his destitute constituents. When his guests had eaten their fill, Premier Branting addressed them on the ecoomic conditions in Sweden.

The premier began by informing them that neither this dinner no any other private or public aid ex-tended to men and women without work was in any sense charity, but simply what was rightfully due them from those who were fortunate enough to be able to help. ### JUDGE REX GOODCELL

Many friends of Superior Judge Rex Goodcell of San Bernardino will rejoice over his appointment as internal revenue collector for the southern district of California. They will rejoice not only because Judge Goodcell has had the political strength and sagacity emphasized and illustrated. to drive through to successful conclusion a political endeavor in which he was personally interested, not only because the work of the office will open up for Judge a wider field of business, professional and political activities than has hitherto been possible for him, but also because this very important office is to

The Boy Scout movement has won to its support the religious bodies in the United States. The 12th Scout law reads "A Scout is Reverent,

This law largely explains why men of all religious faiths can co-operate in the character-building and citizenship-training program of this organization.

The movement is only twelve years old, and yet already has received the official endorsement of the ganized in connection with churches than any other institution and it is believed that almost every scoutmaster is definitely affiliated with one or another religious organization. Sunday, February 12, is Scout Sunday in anniversary week. And in many pulpits the movement will be the chief topic on that day.

FINDS A RUBBER GLASS

Malleable glass, which would be tough but not brittle, and could be easily shaped or welded in any The resolutions demand remedial legislation. form, has long been a dream of glass-makers. There have been many rumors of it, but apparently nobody has yet discovered the secret of making it. Possibly nobody ever will. But here comes a substitute which may serve the same purpose.

An Englishman named Fordyce Jones, a rubber expert now in this country, is credited with the invention of a "rubber glass" and a process whereby the rubber may be wet-molded and either be made transparent or given any desired color by the use of aniline dye. Samples exhibited in London are said to have aroused more interest than any other discovery of recent times.

The possibilities of such a material, if it has the qualities ascribed to it, are vast. Presumably this rubber glass may be made either soft or hard, like ordinary rubber. If so, it will probably replace our present rubber, glass and celluloid for almost innumerable purposes. It should be, for numerous uses, more durable than either glass or celluloid. One of its adaptations is said to be that of a virtually everlasting varnish for wood or paper. It may be an interesting mental exercise to figure out other uses.

CATS TO MATCH FURNITURE

The woman who would dye her cat to match the urniture of her apartments cannot be reached by any appeal to her humanity. The man or woman so essed with an "artistic" sense, can be reached only by severe physical punishment, or by some sort of appeal to his or her sense of artistic propriety. ### Shame of Ignorance

Pasadena Star-News -Enlightened, progressive citizens will take no exceptions to the resolutions adopted by the illiteracy conference of the Western states, held in San Francisco, to the effect that the present state of illiteracy affecting so many persons is a national disgrace.

But more is needed than mere legislation. The eople are coming to rely too much upon statutes and not enough upon individual and community initiative. If a big work is to be done, the tendency for the people to get together, resolve to demand that ongress, or theh state legislature, or the municipal legislators "pass remedial laws." Then there is a folding of hands as though the people had done their full duty by the work that needs doing.

Laws, per se, will not banish illiteracy. Nor will resolutions do it. Laws providing funds and teachers give aid, it is true. But there is a work to be done by individuals and by organizations and by communities. Illiteracy could be attacked most successfully by organized drives in each community where the school authorities would have the practical co-operation of the individual citizen, men's and women's clubs, patriotic organizations, and all who are interested in spreading enlightenment among all who live under the Stars and Stripes 'Educate an illiterate" well might be made the slogan for each member of clubs of a public-spirited nature. Persons of education and leisure well might donate their services to gather together illit erates of their respective neighborhoods and teach them. Each and every community should go into this work with zest and there should be friendly rivalry among localities as to which should first banish completely the pall of ignorance

If we remember our Othello, Hamlet, Macbeth and some other writings of William Shakespeare, the appeal of the bells furnished him with many wonderful lines.

Wasn't it Macbeth who quoth: "The bell invites me,

That summons thee to heaven or to hell?"

And when one, whose happy lot it was to be reared within sound of the bells of a village, contemplates sweet days of memory, naught but joy is to be gained in recalling those beautiful verses written by Thomas Moore, "Those Evening Bells," or those written by Cowper

Long, long ago the poets began to sing the beauty of the bells that called the living and that mourned the dead.

Time was, no doubt, when the bells called the people to worship at the village kirk. In our day and time, with automobile and wrist watches, the ringing of the church bell is but a survivor of ancient Of course, there is a world of difference in bells. Edgar Allen Poe, in his poem covering the span of life, recognized that there are bells and bells. It was long about eighty years ago that he wrote one of the greatest poems ever penned about bells—great in rythm, in conception, in picture equal to the product of the greatest poems ever penned about bells—great in rythm, in conception, in picture equal to the product of the product o in picturesque diction. You will remember that his first lines give us the picture:

And then the second stanza-let

Hear the mellow bells, Golden bells! What a world of happiness their harmony foretells!

Through the balmy air of night
How they ring out their delight!
From the molten golden notes,
And all in tune

What a liquid ditty floats
To the turtle-dove that listens while she gloats on moon!

And the third class of bells is one we know something about, though it must be said that when we have a fire alarm these days the fire hall bell hasn't much of a chance to distinguish itself in competition with the roar of the water works steam whistle and the scream the siren of the automobile fire nes extolling the poetic lure in the truck. Lions club—has pledged influence and force of its membership to active participation in and promotion of any movement that will tend to improve conditions in the city.

The members are young and ener getic and are identified with business enterprises in the city. Through a contest just completed for the securing of suggestions as to some of the crying needs of the city, the club has developed a number of worthy marks to shoot at. It is expected that some one of the sug gestions will be made a feature for club work at once, with other of the lesser important projects being taken up in rotation.

The club is a non-political, non-sectarian organization, vitally interested in taxes, education, civic improvement, home buying, extension of trade, promotion of higher ethical standards in business, and any and every movement for the better-

Limits Membership While its membership is limited to men engaged in business pursuits, it is not a price fixing organization. It seeks to bring business men, and competitors, into closer relation with one another in a social and friendly way, that they may learn to know and respect one another sincerely and intimately. Members are offered all the advantages that may be desired by cor-dial, intimate, friendly relationship individual opportunity to serve himself, his business, and his city and country to better advantage.

The club meets every Thursday at 12:15 at St. Ann's Inn. The sessions are of one hour's duration, and are snappy and full of good cheer, to say nothing of "mind fodder" that is provided through an exchange of business ideas by the members or addresses by men prominent in different lines of endeavor.

Speakers are secured from time to time, who give members valuable thoughts to carry away with them. Features of the regular meeting programs are usually carried out while dinner is in progress. This makes it possible for members to attend without loss of extra time at the noon hour.

Club Requirements Membership is restricted to one representative in each business classification. To become a member, the following points are essential: A man of unquestioned standing in the terested in a business as manager or proprietor and must devote at least 60 per cent of his time to that business. These conditions being met, he is a suitable applicant, provided his classification is not al-ready filled by some other member.

The plan used in organizing the Lions club is almost revolutionary. I know of only two other organiza-tions whose members are similarly selected. The idea is just the opposite of the scheme of most other organizations.

The old idea was to form a club composed of men, or women, who were members of the same profession, or who worked in the same trade or belonged to the same church, or who were born in the same country.

It is all well enough that persons of the same vocation or the same be-lief, or the same ancestry, should get together to discuss their common interests. INSURANCE—ALL LINES with "PRIOR SERVICE"

1141/2 West Fourth St.

Santa Ana, California. Nineteen Twenty Two February Ninth,

Dear Mr. FATHER:

In about fifteen years your boy will be ready for college. This may seem a long look ahead. It may be difficult to visualize your baby as a dignified scholar or a husky member of a varsity team. But time flies quickly, and almost too soon he will be a grown-up man.

If you leave the financing of his college course to the years when he is actually there, you may find it somewhat of a burden on you during those four years. Spread the cost over the years while he is growing up, and your annual payment will not be so large as to cause you any inconvenience.

That's exactly what the new educational plan of the Travelers Insurance Company does; it spreads out the cost over a period of ten to fifteen years. It allows you to sit back the year he enters college with that great feeling of satisfaction that you enjoy when you know a job is done.

But this is only one of its advantages. Should death step in and prevent you from carrying your plan through, The Travelers would pick it up where you were forced to leave it, and provide the money that you intended to devote to this purpose.

Just such a simple thing as picking up your telephone, calling 580, and stating the time when you can conveniently see me may make a big difference in the life of the little boy who thinks of you as the most wonderful daddy in the world.

Very truly yours,

C. E. PRIOR.

The need for it was born as a result of the World's war, which taught us the value of concentrated effort. Lionism is not concern ed about blowing its own horn; it doesn't seek self-applause. It is con-cerned in getting things done in the communities in which it lives and throbs and operates, and it never demands its measure of reward. It believes in subordinating personal praise and glory to the largeness of the work there is to do.
